

2023 Mastercard Corporate Political Contributions Report

Mastercard makes political contributions in strict compliance with applicable laws and the Mastercard Political Activity and Public Policy Statement. The following is a list of political contributions Mastercard made in the U.S. from January - June 2023 and July – December 2023. This report includes a section disclosing the names of the Company's membership in any U.S. trade association whose annual membership dues was $25,000 or higher, regardless of whether any portion of those dues were used for political purposes. No trade association reported to Mastercard that any of the company's dues were used for political expenditures in 2023. In addition, for all payments to 501(c)(4) organizations, Mastercard restricts its funds from being used for election-related activities.

Mastercard is committed to engaging appropriately in the political process and policy arena in a manner that informs and affects the debate concerning issues related to our business, investors and customers including but not limited to payment system innovation, data privacy, the regulation of digital transactions, taxation, and other issues disclosed in the company's public filings. We strive to engage on these issues in the most responsible and ethical way. Mastercard complies with all applicable laws and regulations in connection with the Company's political and public policy activities. Any such activities in which Mastercard engages are based solely upon the best interests of the Company and are made without regard to the private political preferences of its officers and/or executives. As used in this report, "political contributions" are Mastercard PAC contributions as well as corporate contributions to campaign committees, party committees and political committees where permitted by state law, and "independent expenditures" are funds used for communications that expressly advocate the election or defeat of a candidate that are not coordinated with any candidate.
